REED IN THE WAY.

The Speaker the Main Obstacle to Free Silver Coinage.

His Opposition of More Consequence than the President's.

Friends of the Policy Believe They Have a Majority.

Senator Gray Speaks Against the Election Bill.

Prospects of Free Silver.

DENVER, December 6.—A Washington special says: The opponents of free coinage, backed by the administration, are making every possible effort to head off the movement in that direction, which they see is inevitable. The last scheme patched up comes in the shape of a resolution which has been hawked about the house for approval, providing for the immediate purchase of $13,000,000 worth of silver in the lump, and in addition to that already provided for by the silver bill of last session, and the suspension of all purchasing after that of other than American silver. The opponents of free coinage, as far as a canvass has been made, are inclined to favor the proposition, while the free coinage advocates oppose it. They look upon it as a move not only to cut out free coinage, but they see in it a thinly devised scheme to limit the purchase provided for under the present law. They say they are willing to have a joint resolution go through, for they don't care how much silver may be purchased; but they will not consent to the limitation of purchases to the American product because of its moral effect, and because they think it simply another effort to degrade the white metal.

Teller said this morning that he believed a free coinage bill could be passed this morning; he had no doubt whatever, after a canvass of the senate, that it would pass the senate, and if it failed in the house, such failure would not be due to lack of votes, but to unfriendly manipulation of leaders.

The free coinage men in both bodies are growing more and more hopeful, and the opinion is also growing among them that whatever is done must be done before the election bill is disposed of. This means simply that Reed, who holds the hole in his hand, is very deeply interested in the election bill and rather than see it fail might compromise, which would let free coinage through. He is looked upon as the principal obstacle now, and the important question is how to get him out of the way.

His opposition is considered of far greater consequence than that of the administration, for while it is understood that the president is anxious to avoid the necessity of passing upon a free coinage bill, he advocates that policy with the express belief that if the alternative of signing or vetoing a free coinage bill was presented, he would choose the former course. Reed has not so far said or done anything to indicate his position, but he will soon have an opportunity to show his hand in his selection of a chairman of the committee on weights and measures to succeed Conger, who resigned. Wickham, the next man on the committee, is looked upon as friendly to silver, and is by rights entitled to the place. Walker, the third man, is opposed.

If wickham is appointed the silver men will feel encouraged and will regard it as an assurance that the bill will not be smothered in committee. If Walker is appointed, or the place given to some one not now a member of the committee, they will not feel so much encouraged. The speaker has not yet given any intimation of his intentions with reference to this chairmanship, but the best opinion obtainable is that it will go to outsiders.

Silly Shot Gun Bill.

WASHINGTON, December 5. In the senate several unimportant measures were introduced, after which the election bill was taken up.

Mr. Gray finally got the floor, and coming to speak of the application of the law to the southern states, he referred to the lamentable state of affairs there since the reconstruction period, and asked why that legislation should now be interfered with. "Why in the name of humanity," he asked, "should this measure be pressed as a new difficulty, as a new source of danger and animosity, and a new burden on these people, who have already borne so much?"

Coming to the section which provides that a supervisor of elections (to be selected as a "disinterested" man) may make a house-to-house visitation to inquire as to the names, politics, nationalities, etc of its male inmates, Mr. Gray characterized that official as "this czar that is to be, this satrap of a province;" and he said: "In all the measures which provoked and goaded our ancestors to resist the tyranny of the British king there was none that approached the infamy of this proposition; and moderate as I am in all my conceptions of my duty as a citizen and a man, law-abiding as I have always been, and respectful to the powers that be, I say now that when this supervisor knocks at my door I pray God that I shall be at home." [Some applause.]

Mr. Gray's remarks were directed to the domiciliary clause of the bill, and it then being discovered that the printer had made a mistake by leaving it in the substitute, Mr. Gorman moved to have the bill re-printed, and suggested that the senate should adjourn till Monday; but exclamations of dissent came from Mr. Edmunds and other republicans. No action was taken on Mr. Gorman's motion and Mr. Gray still retains the floor.

Mr. Morgan offered a resolution, which went over till to-morrow, calling on the attorney general for a statement of names and places of residence and dates of appointment of the chief supervisors of election in each judicial district in the southern states.

Adjourned.

HOUSE.

McCutcheon, of Michigan, called up the senate joint resolution authorizing the secretary of war to issue arms to each of the states of South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska.

On motion of Carter, of Montana, the state of Montana was included in the provisions of the joint resolution, which was then passed.

The annual pensions appropriation bill was then taken up. In discussing the bill, Outhwaite, Dockery and Henderson claimed that the bill was at least $35,000,000 short of the amount necessary to pay the pensions and avoid the deficiency, and that the added amount might as well be appropriated as to attempt to deceive the public.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, said that the probabilities were that within seven years there would be a million pension applications, who would be paid $170,000,000 yearly. The first duty was to make the appropriation sufficient by adequate appropriations. The second was to cause a committee to investigate the bureau thoroughly, to have the list revised and to strike off unworthy pensioners and the third was to transfer the bureau to the war department and take it out of the domain of politics. It was not the question as to whether the present commissioner had taken part in the election in Indiana or whether the former commissioner had been guilty of the charges against him. These were charges which the gentlemen could throw at each other across the chamber, but when the gentlemen came to act as legislators these charges ought to disappear from their consideration. Here were the people staggering under burdens that had so distressed them that they were seeking new alliances. Let congress meet this matter frankly. The people could not be fooled.

On motion of Dockery, of Missouri, an amendment was adopted providing that no agent or attorney shall demand, receive or be allowed any compensation in any disability.

It is estimated by Dockery and Chairman Morrill of the invalid pensions committee that this will save $7,000,000 to the pensioners within the next three years.

Springer, of Illinois, offered an amendment increasing to $150,000,000 the appropriation for the payment of pensions.

Springer's amendment was lost, 65 to 129.

After further debate the committee rose, the bill was passed and the house adjourned.

Suicide of a Defaulter.

ALBANY, December 5.—The lumber district was in a ferment of excitement yesterday. Early in the morning it became noised about that one of the largest firms in the district, that of Henry W. Sage & Co., had been swindled out of between $80,000 and $100,000 by a trusted bookkeeper. Creditors of the firm who had suffered loss through the bookkeeper were on hand to secure the bookkeeper's arrest, and the case was given to the police. They failed to find their man.

Late in the afternoon the body of Joseph Abbott, the defaulting bookkeeper, was discovered in an unused room in the Windsor hotel. Beside it was a bottle of laudanum half empty. Abbott was about 40 years old, and had worked for the firm for many years. He received a salary of $5000 and commissions amounting to between $5000 and $10,000 yearly. He lived very extravagantly, and was noted for the lavish manner in which he threw money about. He is also reported to have lost heavily at the gaming table.

The discovery of his peculations was made by Mr. Sage, who in looking over the books, found Charles S. Riley & Co., of Philadelphia, indebted to his firm in the sum of $7000. He thought this remarkable and caused a statement to be sent to them. Word came back that the books showed a slight credit in favor of the Philadelphia firm rather than a debit. An expert was put to work on the books and he is still engaged in his task. So far he finds the stealings to extend over several years and he estimates that they will not fall short of $80,000, in the aggregate.

Firemen Fatally Injured.

PITTSBURG, December 5. The Liberty street fire, which broke out in Maginnis's cracker factory about 1 o'clock this morning, was not extinguished until four large business blocks had been consumed. The buildings destroyed were brick, seven stories high, and were occupied by P. Maginnis, cracker house; R. and W. Jenkinson, wholesale tobacco house; Class, Graham & Co., stove and hardware dealers; L. Harris & Co., wholesale druggists.

Chief Engineer Samuel Evens and five firemen, who were caught under a falling wall, are all doing well except Fireman Aug. Roth, of engine company No. 7, who was badly crushed and injured internally, and will probable die.

Fireman Tiegers, of engine company No. 1, is still missing, and it is feared that his body is buried beneath the ruins. A search for the body is now in progress.

The total loss is estimated at $210,000, distributed as follows: E. Maginnis, $40,000; R. & W. Jenkinson, $35,000; Class, Graham & Co., $30,000; L. Harris & Co., $80,000; Alex. King, owner of the building, $55,000.

The origin of the fire has not yet been determined. The buildings destroyed were situated immediately opposite the Seventh Avenue hotel. The guests had nearly all retired, and when the fire broke out there was a panic among them but fortunately no one was injured.

Presidential Nominations.

WASHINGTON, December 5.—The president has sent to the senate the following nominations:

Romulo Pacheo, of California, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to the Central American states.

Wm. Monaghan, of Ohio, to be United States consul at Hamilton Canada.

Collector of customs Sherman A. Johnson, district of Georgetown, D. C.; Alexander R. Pithian, district of Bridgetown, N. S.

Surveyor of customs Walter Johnson, port of Rock Island, Ill.; Frederick Walter Harris, special examiner of drugs, medicines and chemicals at San Francisco.

An Appeal for Aid.

ST. LOUIS, December 5. Secretary Morgan of the Merchants' exchange has received an appeal for aid from the Ladies' Aid society of Paxton, Keith county, Neb. In the appeal it is stated that last summer's drouth caused a complete failure of crops in that county, and as a consequence the people are destitute. Clothing, boots and shoes, food and money are needed, and the ladies appeal to the country for aid to assist the settlers through the hard winter now at hand. The petition is signed by Mrs. L. K. Hutton, president of the aid society.

Murder Ends an Old Feud.

ST. LOUIS, December 5.—A special to the Republic from Temple, Tex., says: While Dr. McCullough was seated in Hammel's dry goods store this morning W. D. Lancaster approached him from behind and shot him through the back with his rifle. McCullough died in 15 minutes. The men were farmers and neighbors, and the killing was the culmination of an old feud.

Determined Strikers.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., December 5.—At a meeting of all the large coal operators of Alabama yesterday a resolution was adopted positively declining to advance the wages of the miners, and refusing to confer with the executive committee of the United Mine Workers of America. The miners are determined to continue the strike.

Fire to Death.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., December 5. John S. Clemo, of Wayne county, Pennsylvania, was frozen to death Monday night while driving from Honesdale to his home in Aldenville. His dead body was discovered stretched over the dashboard of his wagon the next morning by his brother-in-law.

It is Reported Satisfactory Assurances were Received.

Prepared for an Attack.

ST. PAUL, December 5.—A Pioneer Press correspondent telegraphs that paper from Cannon Ball Station, N. D., as follows. On Monday Captain Ketchum of the Twenty-second infantry, who was adjutant general for Stanley in 1873 and is well known to the Indians, held a conference at this station (Cannon Ball ranch) with all the chiefs of the Yankton Indians who could be summoned at short notice, such as Two Bears, Wolf, Necklace, Big Head, Black Tomakawk and Red Fish. They said they had no grievances, and with one accord said the later treaties have been complied with. They expressed grave fears lest the conduct of Bull and others would result in war, and that the Crook Foster Warner treaty would be abrogated thereby. They were assured that friendly Indians would not suffer, and were content. The war department is now having made, at various army posts near the Sioux agencies, detailed reports by officers of rank of all the charges of broken faith made by Indians against the government.

The reports will be forwarded to the secretary of war and a collective statement made from them. No one in this reservation, not actually in touch with Sitting Bull, is chary of expressing the firm belief that he should be arrested and that speedily as possible. He is surely arrogant and recalcitrant, and is regarded as a standing menace to peace, not only by whites, but by such Indians as Gall and John Grass. Many who know the man and believe him to be a coward, think he would submit to arrest peaceably. Others think he would fight hard if brought to bay.

Hostiles Living High.

CHICAGO, December 5.—A special dispatch from Pine Ridge agency, S. D., says: "The situation has not materially changed. The hostile Rosebud Indians sleep upon their arms, prepared constantly for an attack. They have three lines of signal couriers between this agency and their camp, and any movement of the troops would be known in a few moments. They have taken all they wish of the government beef herds and burned the buildings and corrals. They are living high, and are happy. They have moved to the edge of the Bad Lands. Military preparations proceed rapidly. Unless the Indians come in within a very few days the troops will be equipped and in position, when an advance may be ordered.

Appeals for Protection.

OKLAHOMA CITY, December 5. Captain Stiles, in command of the military forces at Oklahoma City, is besieged by numerous inquiries as to what steps will be taken by the authorities to protect the settlers at Frisco, a small village 15 miles southwest of here, against an Indian uprising. The scare amounts to a regular panic. Within a mile and a half of the village nearly 500 Indians, counting squaws, are encamped on the south bank of the Canadian. Many of them have on their paint, and war whoops and yells can be heard daily and nightly. Mrs. Gavis, a school teacher at Frisco, became alarmed for her safety and came to this city with her child. She says the situation at Frisco is decidedly alarming. Settlers from the surrounding country are flocking into the village and a constant guard is kept day and night. The only building in Frisco capable of resisting an attack by the Indians is a one-story house, which has been fitted up as a refuge for the women and children, while the male population remains outside on guard. General Merritt, in command of this department, has been appealed to for protection.

Indian Agitators Arrested.

CHAMBERLIN, S. D., December 5.—A detachment of troops from Ft. Randall to day went down to the Lower Brule agency from this city and took charge of the twelve Indians who had been arrested and imprisoned there for participating in and agitating the ghost dances, and they were brought to this city. The soldiers returned to the agency after nine more. They will leave Sunday morning for Fort Snelling, where the Indians will be confined for the present.

The Indians arrested appear to accept the situation in a philosophical spirit. It is believed that the prompt and energetic measures adopted by the agent and police at Lower Brule have discouraged the fanatics, and that no difficulty will be encountered in keeping them strictly under control.

General Brooke Reports Quiet.

CHICAGO, December 5.—General Miles this morning received a telegram from General Brooke, in command at Pine Ridge agency, saying that matters there were quiet; that the Indians had some cause for complaint with regard to the issue of rations to them, but thought he would be able to remedy the matter shortly, and in the meantime he was doing everything possible to further the separation of the hostile from the peaceful Indians.

General Miles said that his departure for the northwest would not be taken later than Monday next.

The American Feeling.

CHICAGO, December 5. Mr. O'Brien to day received a cablegram from Alderman Hooper, proprietor of the Cork Herald, stating that Munster was sound, and that there need not be the least fear for the country at large. Mr. Hooper's cablegram also asked for a further expression by the Irish envoys in America, for the people's guidance. In response, after consultation with his colleagues, Mr. O'Brien sent the following cablegram:

"Telegram received. Have kept silence out of respect for decisions of our colleagues, confidently relying on their mature judgment and that of the Irish people. Don't be led by hasty or ill-formed American telegrams. All other opinion here overwhelmingly with us. Not a single daily throughout the United States but agrees with us that Gladstone bona fide is indispensable; that disruption means destruction, and that if the party comes to prompt reunion the Irish will occupy a more impregnable position than ever."

The Irish envoys have been receiving numerous expressions of American opinion. Drew Sullivan of Cleveland, in view of the meeting held there by the envoys recently, has written to them of the approval of Cleveland's citizens, and stating that the $2000 proceeds are held at their disposal.

Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, called upon the envoys to day and assured them he had heard a universal chorus of approbation of the stand taken by them in their manifesto.

He was confident that if wise counsels prevailed in London American feeling on the Irish cause would be enlisted more enthusiastically than ever before.

Conference With Gladstone.

LONDON, December 5.—Messrs Redmond, Sexton, Healy, Leamy and the two whips, Power and Deasey, with the exception of Parnell, being all the committee appointed at yesterday's meeting of the members of parliament to confer with Mr. Gladstone, drove to the residence of the liberal leader at 12 o'clock to day. All the members of the committee, with the exception of the whips, entered the house. Ten minutes before the arrival of the Irish delegation, Mr. Morley, Sir William Harcourt, Earl Spencer and Earl Granville, who had been conferring with Mr. Gladstone, took their departure.

The conference between the Irish committee and Mr. Gladstone occupied an hour and upon its conclusion the delegates returned to the room in the house of commons in which the proceedings of the nationalists are being held.

The assurances given by Mr. Gladstone to the delegates fully satisfied the leader of the nationalists that he would make a genuine attempt to deal with the constabulary and land questions to the satisfaction of the Irish people.

Mr Gladstone declines to accept Mr. Parnell's suggestion that he summon Mr. Morley and Sir William Harcourt to receive with him the joint delegations of the two sections of the Irish party. He insisted that if he received them the arrangements should be at his own discretion.

The Irish whips to-day, acting for the Irish party, request Mr. Gladstone unconditionally to receive Delegates Leamy and Redmond, representing Mr. Parnell, and Sexton and Healy, representing Mr. Parnell's opponents. To this Mr Gladstone consented.

The colleagues of the liberal leader were not present at the meeting. Their attendance was considered unnecessary, Mr. Gladstone having consulted them prior to the interview.

Mr. Gladstone, at the meeting of the Irish delegates, in no way pledged himself, nor did he use language importing that he was able himself to define the course that the liberal party would adopt in the position in which it was placed.

Mr. Gladstone gave the Irish delegates a cordial reception. He acted throughout with the full approval of his colleagues. He discussed the whole position of the liberals, the present political situation and the probable effect of Parnell's retention as leader in the liberal party. Mr. Morley was present at the conference, and when it was over remained in consultation with Mr. Gladstone. Subsequently he told the reporters that Mr. Gladstone did not intend to publish anything regarding the meeting. The delegates were also reluctant to give the particulars of the interview, which they regarded as strictly confidential. It is doubtful whether Mr. Parnell will consider that Mr. Gladstone's reception of the delegation without the presence of Messrs. O'Reilly and Harcourt completed the arrangements for the meeting.

The resolutions relative to Parnell adopted by the Catholic hierarchy of Ireland will be read in all the Catholic churches and chapels in Ireland.

Messrs. Healy and Sexton, the anti-Parnell members of the delegation, are satisfied with the result of the interview with Mr. Gladstone. The liberal leader gave no definite promise regarding points submitted but he said sufficient in their opinion to justify the majority of the Irish party in considering his assurances satisfactory.

A Parnell Story.

NEW YORK, December 5.—The Catholic News has received the following from their Dublin correspondent. Thomas Sherlock, an Irish journalist whose relations with the nationalist members of parliament are of a very close nature: "On authority which I have good reason to consider excellent, I make the statement that Mr. Parnell has learned at least two members of the Irish party that the charges against him by Captain O'Shea are utterly without foundation in fact, and that he looks forward to a near time when he will be able to prove as much with good results to the Irish cause. I am personally acquainted with the two gentlemen named to me, and I indeed know them well enough to be able to say, offhand, that for political reasons they would follow Parnell to the end even if they were satisfied that there were blemishes on his private character. These two members of the Irish parliamentary party are convinced that Mr. Parnell is simply biding his own time to vindicate himself at the precise moment when the vindication will have more effect for Ireland."

A Statement of Irish Delegates.

CHICAGO, December 5.—Thomas Power O'Connor authorizes the Associated Press to make for him and his colleagues the following statement in answer to the statement issued in this country and telegraphed to Ireland to the effect that after the conference yesterday the Irish envoys had decided to abandon their American tour:

"It is not true. No such decision has been arrived at. It is true we have postponed the holding of a number of meetings which had been arranged for. This was done chiefly because to have held them would have suggested the separation of the party, which was deemed inadvisable under existing conditions. Furthermore, we felt that if we held them we would be obliged to speak of matters concerning which we deemed it advisable to remain silent for the present. Our attitude is simply one of expectancy and will so continue till some definite decision is reached on the other side."

A Compromise Reached.

CHICAGO, December 5.—An evening paper says: This afternoon the Irish envoys in Chicago received a cablegram, presumably from Justin McCarthy, saying that the Irish party in session in London have arranged a compromise which would be satisfactory to all parties interested in Europe and America; also that the full details are to be forwarded at once to the envoys, here, who are to await them in Chicago. If these details are satisfactory to the tourists they are requested to send their approval at once and in the meantime all proceedings in London will be postponed to await the action of the envoys.

The Nationalist Meeting.

LONDON, December 5.—At 4 o'clock the nationalist members assembled in the conference room and proceeded to business. A resolution was adopted empowering four delegates to negotiate with Mr. Gladstone in connection with the question relative to the constabulary and the Parnell difficulty.

It is understood that Mr. Gladstone today invited this course with a view to placing the negotiations, which may follow the conference which took place today between himself and the Irish delegates, on an authorized footing.

The meeting then adjourned.

The debate on the Lodge election bill gives increased evidence of the inadvisability of the passage of that bill at present.

The girls fair has had a remarkable success but not an altogether surprising one. When we consider the worthiness of the object and the enterprise and devotion of the managers, we may say that the result was no more than what they deserved.

The headline writer of an evening contemporary makes a remark about "The McKinley bill It is likely to prove a boomerang to the republican party" Surprise at the unwonted truthfulness is checked by the evident fact that our contemporary does not understand the words it uses It seems to think that boomerang is something to help a boom but is not the kind of boomerang the McKinley bill will be to the republican party Our contemporary should consult a dictionary

The following is taken from the Denver News yesterday morning "Colorado Springs is decidedly a city of which the state has just reason to be proud Within the last five years its growth has been wonderful Judging the busy commercial air of Denver or of Pueblo, it possesses however, many appearance of substantial prosperity and every promise of continued progress Its location commands the view of as picturesque a landscape as can delight the eye. Its broad streets lined with stately trees, its elegant homes and cozy cottages are all suggestive of wealth and comfort and contentment. Its churches and schools and public buildings are evidence of the intelligence and culture and refinement of its people. Its railway facilities are admirable, while its newspapers and banks and business enterprise and confidence in the future of the town There is no more beautiful or attractive residence city in the state, or, for that matter, in the whole broad west in all respects It is worthy of the pride which Colorado feels in the fame which it so justly enjoys"

A SOUTHWESTERN EMPORY

The wisdom of congress in voting an appropriation for the improvement of Galveston harbor has already been demonstrated and that before the improvements are well inaugurated. The increase in the city's business in every line and especially the export trade during the last three months has been so large as to be noteworthy even at this distance

The principal exports are cotton, wool, hides, and the product of cottonseed, including meal and oil cake The returns are for the month of September, October and November Of cotton the exports were 527 403 bales of wool, 1,019 350 pounds, of flour, 2 502 020 pounds and of cotton seed meal and oil cake 38,465 ,72 pounds The total value of the foreign exports for these three months was $18 698 194

The countries to which these goods went, in the order of their importance commercially to Galveston, are England France, Germany, Russia, Mexico, Denmark and Ireland The domestic commerce was principally with the port of New York, and amounted to $8 743, 050 The cargoes were carried in 98 foreign and 107 American vessels. The total value of foreign and domestic imports during this period was $14 119 000

In no way is the progress and importance of Galveston shown better than by the table of bank clearings In this respect Galveston stands eleventh among American cities ranking between New Orleans and Milwaukee The total of bank clearings for the three months of 1890 was $101 775 855 and for a similar period in 1889 $32 951,217 This phenomenal increase is conclusive demonstration of the stimulus that has been given to this city

Other branches of business besides banking and commerce show it too The wholesale business is growing rapidly Manufacturing enterprises are already extensive and increasing rapidly Many have oil mills, soap works, vinegar factories, cotton mills bagging works, rope and twine mills, cotton compresses, sash and blind factories, railway machine shops, flour and corn mills, boiler and iron works ice factories and many others.

These facts and figures are interesting showing what has been and is being done in a city which is bound to have the closest relations with Colorado a section which is nearer to Colorado Springs than is New York to Chicago The direct north and south trunk railroad line has already been much to the benefit of the two states. This benefit will be increased by the further development of trade, by the construction perhaps of another line, by the increase of population, and especially by the harbor improvements and the growth in manufactures and commerce of Galveston the gateway city of The Southwest

Murder in the First Degree

Kansas City Mo., December 5—A special to the Star from Newton says Louis Brunt was convicted of murder in the first degree last night His victim was George Broer a Harvey county farmer, who was found dead in his bed last February Broer's team which was missing was afterwards found in Brunt's possession Brunt eluded the officers and made his escape but was captured at Peabody, Kansas on the fourth of July He confessed his crime, stating that he went to Broer's house and while there, while Broer was preparing supper, he put poison in his food That night he slept in the stable, waiting for his victim to die In the morning he went to the house and found him dead He covered him up, ransacked the house, and took his team and departed. He is wholly unconcerned over his fate

The Post's Financial Article

New York December 5—The Post, in its financial article, says "The facts that money on call at the stock exchange was easy at 5 per cent this morning and that foreign exchange was reduced another half cent on a pound, to 4 85¾, as the polled rate for demand, thus putting the actual rates at about 4 84¾ or 4 85, or say about one half cent above the gold importation rates gave a more favorable aspect to the monetary situation in some respects But on the other hand the increase yesterday of nearly $2 000,000 of clearing house certificates which it is understood were mostly taken out by out-town banks for the purpose of filling their mercantile customers through left an impression which neutralized the effect of easier money on call and lower rates for exchange

Bankers Assign.

Meadville Pa December 5—Delamater & Co., bankers of this city made an assignment this morning for the benefit of their creditors Beyond the fact stated, no particulars are obtainable Messrs. Hotchkiss and McClintock as signees took immediate possession and are preparing a statement for the public There is little excitement although the suspension caused a profound sensation The Delamaters have heretofore enjoyed the entire confidence of the business public, and recent rumors concerning them have been treated as emanating from political rivals. They have the sympathy of the community and hopes are expressed that the suspension will be but temporary

Hauled Down Britain's Flag

Lisbon December 5—News was received yesterday from Cape Town that a Portuguese force had seized Mutacca Kreal at Manica, South Africa and hauled down the British flag, replacing it with the flag of Portugal, which is a surprise to the Portuguese government The act did not result from any instructions issued by the government or the Mavambique company for all instructions issued by them to their subordinates in South Africa provide for a directly contrary course It is supposed here that the instructions had not arrived at Manica on November 8 The affair is alleged to have taken place since that date

Coal Miners Convention

Pittsburg December 5—A convention of the coal miners of central Pennsylvania comprising the counties of Center Clearfield, Cambria Blair Bedford Huntingdon and Jefferson has been called to meet at Altoona next Wednesday to consider a plan to establish a fund to pay the wages of check weigh men at the mines and to vote on the advisability of demanding a general advance in the price of mining on January 1 The convention will be one of the most important ever held in central Pennsylvania

A Warden Resigns

Stillwater Minn December 5—John J Rindall warden of the Minnesota state prison has resigned at the request of Governor Merriam The resignation grew out of the scandalous charges that Warden Randall had allowed Younger the Missouri outlaw who with the James brothers robbed the Northfield bank and killed several people to go outside the walls of the prison unguarded and that another notorious convict had been permitted to leave the prison and pass a night many miles away in St Croix county Wisconsin

Portuguese Driven Out

London December 5—The Portuguese leaders who were taken prisoners by the British South African company's police when the latter drove the Portuguese out of Mutacas Kreal after they had captured that place and hauled down the British flag are Baron Roesonda Colonel Andreod and Colonel Houzegova Colonel Andreod was subsequently released on parole He is said to be arranging terms for a settlement of the matter being conscious that he made a false move

Theory of a Mysterious Death

Carthage Mo December 5—Dr H L Beem was found dead yesterday morning about one mile from his home ten miles south of here It is supposed he was thrown from his buggy while crossing a stream and his coat caught in the top. He was dragged over a mile and when found the buggy was overturned and the horses had stopped His head and face were very much bruised

THE FAIR

After a Most Successful Run, the Girls Hall Fair is Closed

Although the morning of the second day of the Girls Hall fair was seemingly unpropitious all the ladies in charge were early on hand and by 11 o'clock, the opening hour all the rooms had been cleaned and the tables rearranged and replenished so that they looked as fresh as when the fair first opened A few minutes after the doors were opened the tables were again surrounded by purchasers Although the patronage during the day was not as great as the generosity of the fair did not commence until late in the afternoon All the rooms were also well as the halls and stairways and the goods sold rapidly The postoffice did a flourishing business all the evening and added materially to the general good time The house was the scene of much social intercourse last evening than on the evening previous as more young men were present and the young ladies were not so busily engaged at their tables Almost the entire corps of cadets were present in their handsome uniforms and added a pleasing military effect to the scene A prominent feature of the evening was the silhouette maker Everyone had one taken and some of the expressions of surprise as various ones saw their profiles as others see them were very amusing The method of making them was very simple In one corner of a room was tacked up a sheet with a lamp behind it and the sitter was arranged so that his profile appeared in sharp outline against the light The reversed image was then thrown upon the ground glass of a small photographic camera and a tracing made with thin paper From this pattern the picture was cut out of black paper and pasted on a sheet of cardboard when it was ready for delivery, and brought 15 cents Miss Scarborough and Miss Curr relieved each other at the camera and kept three cutters constantly at work, while a long line waited at the door of the studio

At half past eight quite a number of the articles remaining were auctioned off by Mr J A Connell and brought very good prices under his persuasive hammer. At 10 o'clock the fair closed with a net profit of over $2300 for the two days, representing the almost unceasing labor of the ladies of the Woman's Educational society of Colorado college for several weeks past.

Charles A. Davis, manager of "The Stowaway," which will be seen at the opera house next Monday night, has had all during the current dramatic season a remarkable experience with professional cracksmen that is becoming a trifle wearisome In his exceedingly realistic melodrama there is a scene where two real burglars blow open a safe and relieve it of its valuables. The incident is worked up in a very realistic and thrilling way, and with all the accessories of dark lanterns and safe breaking tools. Mr Davis has, within the past three months, received applications from more than a score of people seeking employment as stage cracksmen. These parties are, or have been, professional criminals, and submit references as to their capability in their peculiar line Among these references are documents are court records of their confinement for safe robberies, newspaper clippings telling of hairbreadth escapes from the clutches of the police, evidences of their having "done time" in various prisons and of the skill with which the crimes were committed. In some instances photographs have been sent, the counterparts of which are to be found in the "rogues' galleries" of numerous police headquarters in every case the applicants were careful to declare that they were no mere housebreakers or of the common run of thieves, but genuine experts whose cleverness and experience are devoted entirely to robbing safes Mr. Davis has made a collection of these letters and testimonials which he correctly esteems as being thoroughly unique.

People who stayed away from the opera house last night missed a good time The Hanlon Voiter and Martinetti pantomime and novelty company undoubtedly gave the best performance of the kind ever seen in the city. There was not one single feature in it that could be criticised from an artistic standpoint, and a majority of the acts were new and startling The Montejan troupe in an act called the Chinese Fair started the ball rolling, and it was kept going until the curtain dropped The acts include Dora Emerson in soprano selections, Hulines, original musical clowns, a splendid triple horizontal bar exercise by the troupe, Walter Emerson, cornet soloist, a pantomime act, Mlle Angeline in feats of juggling on the slack wire, Rapoli in a ladder act, Stebbs and Trepp, character grotesque comedians, and closes with the Waltenburg family of acrobats. One of the finest acts ever witnessed anywhere was the balancing of a ladder by Rapoli, and the Waltenburg family includes two very remarkable female gymnasts. The salary roll of the company is over $500 a week, and it is too bad that it should be compelled to play to a $800 house

Condition of Trade

NEW YORK, December 5 —R G Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade says. The stringency in commercial loans noticed last week as the chief cause of the present disturbance is now almost the only remaining cause in domestic affairs There has been a distinct improvement in the disposition of banks and money lenders to give necessary support to legitimate business and speculative advances as far as possible.

The volume of trade is still surprisingly large, as clearing house exchanges prove, and railroad earnings and the returns from many centres of trade are larger than ever before at this season With time and a spirit of mutual helpfulness the legitimate business of the country should soon recover its normal state of health Very numerous and full reports from other cities this week show that the cheapness of cotton at the south and the delay of winter weather at the north have somewhat reduced transactions and caused more tardiness in collections than heretofore but colder weather and the approach of the holiday season already begin to have a favorable effect at many points.

Thus trade at St Louis is unimproved in all seasonable lines, excellent at Baltimore, and better at Detroit and Boston At most southern points the slower movement of cotton on account of low prices is named as the principal delay in collections Thus at Dallas while money is tight, banks having made advances are urging shipments, and within a radius of 100 miles there is said to be eight to ten million dollars worth of cotton to be forwarded In general, the volume of trade throughout the country is so heavy that with the advance of several cents per half cent in prices a correspondingly larger sum is absorbed

The speculative markets for products are strong, higher and ready wheat having advanced 1a shade for the week and corn no less than 2½ cents, oil 1 cent and pork 25 cents per barrel, though lard and hogs are a shade lower and cotton and coffee unchanged There is no especial change noted in the great industries though the iron is rather weaker in the

The failures for seven days during throughout the country during the last seven days are less compared with a total of 290 last week For the corresponding week of last year the figures were

National Farmers Alliance

CHICAGO, Dec 5 After a short time devoted to routine business at the afternoon session of the National Farmers Alliance President McGrath of the Kansas Alliance moved that the annual election of officers be proceeded with and he placed the name of L. Polk in nomination for the presidency Mr Polk was unanimously re-elected by acclamation B F Coyer of Kansas for vice president was also unanimously chosen J H Turner of Georgia was unanimously re-elected secretary For national treasurer two nominations were made J L Willets of Kansas and B F J. Ferrel of Tennessee Willets was elected by a vote of against Ferrel is the present incumbent

H D Tilman of Tennessee was elected to a vacancy on the committee of legislation term three years and Delegate Cole of Michigan was elected member of the judiciary committee The new committee of fraternal relations is composed of Talbett of South Carolina Louicks of South Dakota Livingstone of Georgia Rogers of Florida and Terrill of Texas A committee was also chosen to memorialize congress on the suppression of the lottery consisting of L F Polk, J L Adams and J G Langley The national executive board remains unchanged Macbune, Wardell Tillman and Polk

Parnell's Course Outlined.

CHICAGO, December 5 —The Tribune this morning says The Irish delegates will remain in town until they hear definitely from Ireland Mr Harrington, who differs from his colleagues, takes a most hopeful view of the situation now, and says it will come out all right in the end Mr. O Brien Mr Dillon and Mr O'Connor take the attitude of the Irish bishops as conclusive, but they will not talk for publication

"It is now understood among them that Mr Parnell will retire temporarily from the Irish leadership Lord Salisbury's attack on the Irish members and Mr Gladstone has settled everything The attitude of the Irish bishops has cleared the situation The priests will, of course, follow the lead They are the ablest and best politicians in Ireland, and with Dillon, O'Brien and Healy arraigned on their side Mr Parnell can make no headway against them Mr Parnell sees the hopelessness of the situation and will go out for a period. He will probably retain his seat for Cork retire to France for a few months, marry Mrs. O'Shea, and resume his place in the house of commons as leader of the Irish party after the general election "

Parnell's Opinion on the Deal.

DUBLIN, December 5 —The Freeman's Journal says Mr. Parnell will have well earned the lasting gratitude of his countrymen if he exacts as the price of his stepping down from the chair a real home rule measure. But if Mr Gladstone, Mr. Morley and Sir William Harcourt decline to give the necessary assurances we shall now see what their alliance is worth, and the treachery at the bottom of the English outcry against Mr. Parnell will stand exposed

In conclusion the Journal says it anticipates that Mr Gladstone will give a satisfactory reply to the questions to be submitted to him by the delegation of the Irish members of the house of commons, appointed yesterday to wait upon him for information regarding the control of the Irish constabulary and the settlement of the land question

Partially Burned by Gasoline.

St. Louis, December 5. Miss Maud Whitelaw, of 2605 Thomas street, was burned so terribly by gasoline explosion this morning that she died at 10 o'clock to-night She was cleaning a piece of plush with gasoline by the side of a grate fire The gasoline caught fire and the burning fluid ran over her clothing, and in a moment she was ablaze from head to foot Mrs Overbeck, with whom she boarded, heard her piercing screams and ran to her help and succeeded in putting out the flames. Miss Whitelaw was very well known

Great Billiard Record.

BOSTON, December 5 Jake Schaefer, the champion billiardist, made his great record in the 14 inch balk line game tonight in an exhibition game at the Hub billiard palace In five innings he had completed the string of 400 and beaten Vignaux's famous average of 75 Schaefer's average to night was 80, and his highest run was 233 The "Wizard" slipped up on an easy shot in making the 234th attempt

Case Dismissed

NEW YORK, December 5 Judge Martine to day dismissed the indictment against Eva Hamilton, Joshua Mann and Mrs. Mamie Swinton, charging them with conspiracy to defraud the late Robert Ray Hamilton by passing off a waif as his child and also for grand larceny The ground on which Judge Martine acted was that Mr Hamilton was dead and that no conviction on the charge could be secured without testimony

Idaho's Legislators.

THE GAZETTE.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1890

There is a telegram at the Western Union Telegraph office for John Moore.

The repairs on Mr. Mackintosh's house have been completed at a cost of $930.

The reception and ball by the Modern Woodmen has been postponed until the 15th inst.

"The Hustler," a successful farce comedy, is booked at the opera house for December 22.

Miss Tertia Cronch, of Denver, has just concluded a pleasant visit with Mr and Mrs. W. J. Lawrence.

Colorado City hopes to get a soap factory, and parties in the east are negotiating with that intention.

Miss Sadie Chapman, of 20 East St Vrain street, has just returned from a three months' tour in Europe.

Lutheran church services in the city hall to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the pastor. Sabbath school at 10 a. m.

The Bailey jubilee singers gave an entertainment at the Church of the Strangers yesterday evening that was quite successful.

Remember the last Gower organ concert comes next Tuesday evening at the First Congregational church. Mrs. Fannie Aiken Tucker sings.

An organization of the Pythian sisterhood is to be organized in this city and a meeting for that purpose will be held at K. of P. hall this afternoon for that purpose.

The meeting in the interest of organizing an independent political party in the city has been postponed for one week from this evening, by order of the committee.

There will be a meeting of the ball committee at Mrs. Buckmon's to-day at 2 o'clock. Any person wishing to attend can apply for tickets to a member of the committee.

The edition of the Gazette yesterday morning was entirely exhausted but the amount of the fair can be found in the weekly, on sale at the office counter or the news stands.

Rev. A. C. Peck left last night for Rifle, Colorado, where he will assist in the dedication of a new church. Chancellor McDowell of the Denver university will preach at the First Methodist church to-morrow morning and evening.

Sunday services at the First Congregational church at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Its pastor, Rev. James B. Gregg, will preach both morning and evening. In the evening will be given the fifth in the series of discussions on guest questions. Subject, "Who is Jesus Christ?"

The consolidation of the Colorado Midland railway to Grand Junction is expected to be a large one. Five trains will leave the A. T. & S. F. depot about 11 o'clock this evening. The fare for the round trip is only $10 with a limit of five days in which to return. Tickets can be secured by either line, Midland or Rio Grande.

The grand thief is still at work, and people are warned to watch their houses carefully. One entered Hallett & Baker's undertaking rooms Tuesday night and took two overcoats from the hall rack, and the stable in the rear of Mr. Decker's residence on Nevada avenue was entered and an overcoat and pair of gloves taken.

At the annual meeting of Pike's Peak Commandery No. 6 of Knights Templar Thursday night the following officers were elected: J. P. Bell, eminent commander, Matt Pierce, generalissimo; A. Matthews, captain general; D. Hughes, senior warden; J. E. Reynolds, junior warden; L. C. Skinner, treasurer; B. F. Crowell, recorder.

According to the contract signed by the council committee with the King Iron Bridge company, the bridge over the Monument at Bijou street is to be in place by May 1, 1891. It is to have a 180 foot span, will give a 20 foot roadway and walks on the side for foot passengers. It is to be so constructed that it can be converted into a viaduct bridge at any time. The contract price is $11,150.

Evening classes under competent instructors are being organized at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. and will be formed in vocal music, mechanical drawing, book keeping, penmanship and arithmetic. Instruction will be given free to members. The annual fee for membership, entitling members to all the privileges of the association, is only two dollars.

The Denver News comments thus editorially upon Mr. W. S. Jackson, as a presiding officer. "Hon. W. S. Jackson, who presided at the Colorado college jubilee performed the duties of the position in a most admirable manner. While pretending to none of the graces of oratory, Mr. Jackson talks in a direct and impressive manner, which not only claims the attention of his hearers but excites their enthusiasm by its simple earnestness and force."

The Typographical Journal for December states that subscriptions to the fund for the Childs-Drexel home are still coming in although the effort to raise money has practically ceased. The total subscriptions amount to $7,211.90 up to December 1, and the treasurer of the Childs Drexel fund reports $27,816.58 on hand. The assessment of $1 on each member will more than give the required $50,000 to begin building with.

The Board of trustees of the Mute and Blind Institute concluded their annual session yesterday, having been at work for three days. All members of the board were present, and a large portion of the time was taken up in preparing the annual report. The trustees are preparing to move on the next legislature for an additional appropriation this year. The appropriation of $80,000 by the last legislature was expended most judiciously, as every one knows, in putting in the new school buildings, but $15,000 more is needed. The school must have a small cottage, removed at a distance from the main buildings, for use as a sick ward, new dormitories are needed, and very extensive repairs must be made to the old building. The trustees are not yet decided what appropriation they will ask for.

Last evening was a gala occasion at Professor Dargin's dancing academy, being the occasion of the reception of Professor and Mrs. Ralph Warren of Denver. Professor and Mrs. Warren arrived in the city yesterday morning and spent the day in a social go with Manitou and the Garden of the Gods. In the evening Professor Dargin gave a dinner party at the Alamo in their honor. Last night occurred the reception at Weber hall, which was made very pleasant in every way. The attendance was quite large, and the dancing lasted until a late hour. Metz' orchestra furnished the music, but unfortunately was late in arriving, owing to the entertainment at the opera house. During the evening Miss Jessie E. Meeks gave the tambourine dance, executing it very prettily and gracefully. Professor Warren invited the members of Professor Dargin's class to visit him in Denver and dance with his class.

Manager Barnett of The Antlers opened his billiard room yesterday. It is located just north of the office and contains two billiard and one pool table. The use of the room and tables is free to the guests of the house and their friends, or the friends of the proprietor, and will add another attractive feature to the popular hostelry.

Central Office for Austin Bluff Property.

The finest Suburban Residence Location combining view of mountain and plain in the state. Beautiful parks, overgrown with large pine trees unequalled as a health location. Pure air, pure water, and plenty of it, both for domestic and irrigating purposes. No smoke! No dust! The track of the Electric Car Line is already laid from one of the parks in the center of this property to the city limits. Electric Cars are now running, bringing this property within fifteen minutes' ride from the postoffice. Several fine residences will be erected on this property at an early date. Special inducements offered for the next 60 days to parties buying lots with the intention of building at once. Why locate in the smoke and dust of our city when such an opportunity is offered? Each lot contains one to four acres. Specially adapted for fine residences. This location speaks for itself. All that we ask is an inspection of the property before purchasing.

FIRE, FIRE, FIRE! As the cold wave sets in we read in every paper of FIRES. Look after your INSURANCE and be safe. We represent only FIRST-CLASS COMPANIES and guarantee prompt and equitable adjustment in case of loss. Call at office and take out INSURANCE that INSURES.
